PROFESSIONALLY PLANNED & DESIGNED FOR SUCCESS

The evaluation phase lays the groundwork for the success of a future casino and is essential in determining the feasibility of a project. A new casino is an investment in the future and getting it right in the planning and design stages is crucial to its success. Our feasibility studies take in all aspects of a potential casino operation, from site and market analyses to the gaming mix and appraisal of the local labor market. We work closely with the architects and the local community to ensure that the future casino has a strategic advantage and best meets local needs, tastes, traditions and legislative requirements.
